THE ORANGEMEN STEALING A MARCE

To Prevent League Meetings by Posting Ad-Provent Longue Meetings by Posting Advance Notices of Meetings of Grangement.

Alleged Betails of the Angle-French Agreement—Arranging for the Election Campaign in Ireland-Increase of Irela Vatera Under the Franchise Bill—Other Gootp.

LONDON, June 9 .- The Orangemen are enavoring to regain the prestige which they at by yesterday's flasco at Newry. They say that Earl Spencer's order can be translated in the Orange interest, and they mean to make use of that translation. The Lord Lieutenant forbade counter political demonstrations by Orangemen at the same time and places as the meetings of Nationalists, with a view of per-mitting free speech, but at the same time preserving the peace. The Orangemen argue that if they are to be prevented from interfering with the Nationalist meetings the Leaguers must similarly be prevented from interfering with the Orange meetings; and claim that the Government is piedged to protect them in their future assemblages, provided only that they are amounced in advance of similar meetings by the Nationalists. Whenever, therefore, the Orangemen in the future desire to prevent a League meeting, they will, as soon as they assembled they are also an advance notice of one by Orangemen at the designated time and place. To test their theory and at the same time to make an exhibition of their strength, the Orangemen propose a widespread series of demonstrations on the 12th of July next, which will be the 18th anniversary of the battle of the Boyne. They claim that they will be able to parade 50,000, barring the boys. As the notices for the Orange demonstrations are being hurriedly got out, it seems as though the Leaguers have had a successful march stolen upon them this time, because the loralists, by securing 'priority,' have, ascording to Earl Sporcer, secured as same and the places advertised.

A sensation was caused to-day by a report that two of the dynamiters engaged in the recent explosions in London had been arrested at Jarrow, in Durham county. On their examination, however, there was no attempt to connect them with those outrages. It was shown that one of them, an Irishman named at Jarrow, in Durham county. On their examination, however, where we had also been engaged in the fight, and had aided Hart to escape. Both were remanded, and will be sent back to Glasgow for trial.

Minister Lowell presided this evening over the banquet given in honor of the American Lacrosse Team. In proposing the toast of the evening, Mr. Lowell confessed his profound ignorance of the art and mystery of the noble game of lacrosse, and admitted that on entering the room he had mistaken the bats, which were arranged upon the walls, for snow shoes.
He, howaver, was heartily pleased at the uninterrupted success which his countrymen had enjoyed, and was glad to welcome them to England, believing that such visits did much toward cementing the friendship existing between the two countries. Mr. Shaw, the President of the English Lacrosse Club, also welcomed the Americans and highly complimented them upon their prowess, of which he had been a witness and a victim. Sir Charles Tupper, the Canadian High Commissioner, in responding to a toast, claimed that Canada was the foster mother of lacrosse, but that her southern neighbors had improved upon her toachings.

THE ANGLO-FRENCH AGREEMENT. England's Alleged Concessions to France Me-

specting the Egyptian Conference. LONDON, June 9 .- In the House of Lords to-day Earl Granville, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, said that he was unable to make any statement at present concerning the negotiathese negotiations were continuing to make great pragress, and that nothing would be done to bind England. He hoped to be able to make a statement next week.

The Pull Mail Gazette believes that the leading provisions in the agreement upon which the Egyptian conference will be based, recently made between M. Waddington and Earl Granville, are:

Tille, are:

First-That England shall advance the Khedive 20,000,000, with interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, of which £4,500,000 shall be devoted to the payment of the Alexandria indemnity fund: £2,000,000 shall be used to meet the floating debt. £1,000,000 to pay the expenses of the evacuation of the Soulan, and the remaining £00,000 to secure the payment of the Expelian componing.

Upper Egypt.

The Liberal officials deny the accuracy of the Pull Mail Gazetie's statement. The minority of the British Cabinet oppose Earl Granville's concession of an international control. A strong section of Liberal members of Parliament will vote against the establishment of such a control. Should the yote of Parliament reject the agreement with France, Earl Granville will resign.

The appointment of receivers for the property of the New York, West Shore and Buffalo Railway, which has been expected as likely to be necessary, has been made. Upon the application of the United States Trust Company, trustee under the first mortgage made by the company, dated Aug. 5, 1881, to secure an issue of $50,000,000 of 5 per cent, bods, available Marcon, Respect cent, bonds ex-Judge Horace Russell and Mr. Theodore Houston have been appointed by Judge Charles F. Brown of the Supreme Court to be receivers of all the property of the company. The application was made to Judge Brown in Newburgh on Saturday night.

Court to be receivers of all the property of the company. The application was made to Jadge Brown in Newburgh on Saturday sight.

The proceedings under which these appointments have been made is one to foreclose the mortgage, but those who are interested in the property said yesterday that some pian of reorganization is expected to be agreed upon hereafter. Should this be done the foreclosure and saie thereunder will not be necessary.

Judge Russell was appointed in the interests of the first mortgage bondholders, all of whom who were consulted favoring the appointment. He is a son-in-law of Judge Hilton, who, it is said, holds a large amount of the bonds. Mr. Houston has been connected with the West Shore Hailway for soveral years, and is Vice-President of the company.

In January last the North River Construction Company, which had built the West Shore road, went into the hands of a receiver, with a debt due to contractors and others of about $5,000,000, and with a claim against the West Shore of about $7,500,000, for which it holds $10,000,000 of the second mortgage bonds of that company. The railway company opened for business throughout its entire line on Jan, I last. Regarding its embarrassment the following official statement is made:

It had a year's taxes to pay, considerable expenditure to make in the way of supplying additional equipment, completing some of its stations, and providing many concentraces for actual agreemy operating it trains.

It took some time to perfect connections and traffic arrangements with the West to secure a fair share of the through business. The first six months of the year are always the period of least revenue.

A disastrous war of rates has existed most of the time, and a rival railway has reduced the local freight raise accompeting points about one-half.

Arrangements with the West to secure a fair share of the time and a state of the first increages bond to inest all the necessalites of the company, provided a majority in history to provide the company provided and no may require.

Judge Nixon, sitting in the United States Circuit Court, at Trenton, granted an order in a similar suit, appointing the same receivers. They qualified at once, and took possession yesterday afternoon. The indebteiness of the company other than that to the Construction Company is reported as being about $1,500,000.

The Excursion that Mr. John H. Starin

boat, the Myndert Starin, left her pier at 10 o'clock, and joined the excursion fleet that had rendezvoused just below Governor's Island. Three tugs in single file led the van, and ware followed by three sidewheel steamers close abreast. This was the motive power, and at the end of long hawsers it dragged six double-decked barges, all swarming with humanity and fluttering with liags, fans, and handkerchiefs. The Starin and the police boat Patrol flanked the line on either side, and, amid a great blowing of whistles and crashing of brass bands, the procession swept around the Battery and into the North lilver, receiving salutes and cheers from the shipping on all sides.

After seeing the main body of the excursion well under way, the Starin dropped astern and steamed back to Governor's Island, where Gens, MeMahon and Day and Col. Hopper of the Momorial Committee went on shore to pay the respects of the veternas to Gen, Hanceck. The General returned with them to the dock, and was received with cheers and other attentions which kent him busily engaged in removing his black felt hat and making responsive salasms until the beat moved away.

On the Starin, the headquarters, were the officers of most of the horty Grand Army posts represented in the excursion, many of them with their families and friends. There was feasting and drinking and singing and speechmaking and noise by the band. At Excelsion Grove the barges landed and shed their passengers among the trees on the steep hillside. The Starin went several miles further up, and touched at the grove on the way back.

One serious accident happened during the day. Charles Ward, a young man from Yonkers of the forty of the heavy wooden swings he was pushing in the ground, attempted to jumpout, and was turned many feet away. EMPEROR WILLIAM'S SPEECH.

Head by Blamarck at the Laying of the Cornor Stone of the New Partiament House.

BERLIN, June 9.-The foundation stone of the new Parliament building was laid to-day by Emperor William. A brilliant assemblage of notables was present, among whom were the whole royal famuly, the Imperial Cabinet offiof notables was present, among whom were the whole royal family, the Imperial Cabinet officers, many members of the Reichstag, and large numbers of military officers of high rank. Prince Bismarck read the Emperor's speech. The substance of the speech was as follows:

Through the successes of the united German arms the empire has attained; a greatness before uniferanced of. The confidence existing between the Federal Governments gave the strength to protect the constitution and insure the national development and prosperity. May the work which will infure the done in him indiding he devoted only to order, liberty, justice, and equal love for all classes of the people. May pence alread and at home attend the erection of this clifice, and may it be forever a visible sign of the indissoluble honds which have united the German States and peoples in great and glorious days.

At the conclusion of the speech the Bavarian Minister handed the trovel to the Emperor. As he did so he expressed the gratitude of the Bundeszah at this auspicious event. He hoped the Emperor would live to see the completion of the building, and said that the harmonious working of the various elements of the fovernment would render the safety of the fatheriand certain. The President of the Reichstag expressed the hope that the blessing of God, which had visibly accompanied Emperor William at all times, would rest upon the building, and would prospor the labors of which it shall be the scene.

Tracking the Dynamiters.

LONDON, Juno 9.—The Globe says there is good reason to believe that the police are well on the track of the iniscreants who caused the recent applearing. The chief difficulty which confronts the police now is of a financial nature. The offering of a large reward for the discovery of the originals meets with little favor. The decoded preference is for the formation of a secret fund to be used at the discretion of the police. A detachment of troops has arrived at the Birnickham isli to prevent any attempt to rescue Daly, Egan, and McDonnell. The sentries have been doubted, and their positions are changed daily to correspond with the daily changes of the prisoners' cells.

Five hundred Chinese Sunday school scholare gave an excursion yesterday to Oscawana Island, in the Hudson. They invited their teachers and friends to accompany them, and about 2,000 persons were on the Grand Repub-lic when she left the Barge Office at the Battery at 10 A. M. The whole picnic was conducted by a Chinese committee. There were Chinese ca-terers who charged American prices, and there was a Chinese band.

The band consisted of ten men, who played about twenty pieces. The cymbals, which weighed twenty pounds, were played by a horculean Chinaman, who sweated and groaned under the burden. There was only one other instrument which was as loud as the cymbals. This was a sort of brass or copper pan which hung from a beam by a rope and was industriously pounded with a heavy copper-knobbed stick. There were four small drums resembling this, and one bamboo drum, which could hardly be heard.

and was used by the leader. There were several string instruments and flutes and horns, which could only be heard when the more justy pieces were silent. The band worst their national costume, as did nearly all the Chinamen on board, and had inscribed on their instruments the names of the bands in which they played in China. They played by letter, but altogether from memory, no papers being used. They played nearly all day. Coid tea encouraged them in their efforts.

Many of the guests were American young women. They were secorted most zealously by the Chinese gallants, many of whom were quite good looking and sported their diamonds. A bountiful lunch, including cold turkey and meats, cake, fruits, and lee cream, was served on the island. Firecrackers and bombs resounded in the woods. Long lines of firecrackers, suspended from the trees in the grove, were set off all together just before the return, making an almost deafening noise.

A prayer meeting was held in the pavilion, and the plenickers sang hymns on the way home. On the third deck a party of Chinamen sang songs in the Chinese language. They were curious, but not pleasant to listen to. Another party sang "Rock of Ages" to the necompaniment of a Chinese flute, and there were no less than eight different parties singing different tunes at one time besides the music of a plane and the Chinese band.

Most of the Chinese Consul's office; Chang Fang Woo, who is studying to be a physician, and Chin Chee, a Chinese missionary. Sunday school superintendents and teachers and many pastors were among the guests. It was the second plenic of the kind.

PETMECKY'S PLEA FOR A NEW TRIAL. Declaring that he Killed Mrs. Profishelm in Befence of his Own Life. BUFFALO, June 9 .- The motion for a new trial for Franz Josef Petmecky. who is in the Cayuga county jail under sentence of death for the murder of the wife of Andrew Froitzheim in Auburn on June 1, 1883, was argued on Saturday before the General Term of the Supreme Court in this city. Mrs. Froitz-heimer was a relative of Petmecky's. He had lived in the family in 1830, but had been absent from Auburn for over a year. On coming home from work on the day of the murder, Froltzheim found the doors and windows of his house fastened. He entered through a window, and found the dead body of his wife window, and found the dead body of his wife iying on the sitting room floor. One side of her head was crushed in. The walls and floor were stained with blood. An undischarged revolver and a hatchet, both blood-stained, were found on the floor. A sum of money, some jewelry, a bank book on the Auburn Savings Bank, and some wearing apprace were missing.

The day following the murder a stranger presented a bank book at the First National Bank of Albany and wanted some money on it. The book was one of the Auburn Savings Bank, abooks. The man was arrested. His clothing was spotted with blood. He was identified as Franz Josef Fetmecky, although he gave his name as Nathan Heyman. He had on a coat belonging to Andrew Freitzbeim, and the latter's watch, jewelry, and money were in his possession. Petmecky was convicted and sentenced to be hanged on March 21. A stay of execution pending argument on a motion for a new trial was obtained. The argument was based on a statement made by the prisoner that the killing was done in self-defence.

Petmecky declares that Mrs. Froitzheim was in love with him. Unknown to her he married a young Swiss girl in Syncuse in May, 1883. On the day of the murder he called on Mrs. Froitzheim in response to a letter from her. She urged him to clope with her. He finally told her of his marriage. This enranged her so that she attacked him with such fury that he drew his pistol and struck her on the head with it. The struggle was renewed. He dropped the pistol on the floor. She secured it, and, pointing it at him, declared she would kill him and then kill hersell. The vistol snapped. She cocked it again. Before she could pull the trigger he picked un a hatchet that thay by the slove, and struck the blow that killed her.

The Court reserved its decision on the argument, but the general opinion of the bar is that it will not order a new trial. lying on the sitting room floor. One side of

"Penny Ante; or, the Last of the Fairles," which was brought out last evening at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, is one of those light and airy trifles that are supposed to have the quality of beguiling the warm hours of a summer evening and making one forget the thermometer. It is a musical burlesque, and the scene passes partly in a dry goods store in New York, partly in the City Prison, and partly in a supposed fairy grotto in Hariem. There are in the piece a fairy queen and her attendants, a sore rer, a Chinaman, a squad of policemen, a swarm of messenger boys, and scores of pretty girls, together with dry goods cierks, a dry goods merchant, and a variety of other characters, including a heroine in white and a tenor lover. All these pass arrobs the stage in bowidering confusion, for the author of the libretto has written one of those extraordinary jumbles of nonsense which makes it extremely difficult to follow his plot. The dialogue is very dull very tedious, and commonplace to the last degree. There is considerable music, and for the most part it is well constructed and molodious, without being altogother original. There is a good deal of bustle and rough-and-tumble action to the piece, which gives it a certain vitality, but neither by its intrinsic merit nor by its performance has it any particular claim to public attention. The best part of it is the music, which was composed by Mr. Fred. J. Eustis, who led the orchestra. the scene passes partly in a dry goods store

MR. MOMENTS CHURCH MUST NO COME WEST OF THIRD AVENUE.

The Opposition of the of the Two Chu Aircady Scinbilshed in the Wealthier Re-gion West Triamphe in the Presbytory. The Presbytery of New York has been stirred three times with the question where the Seventy-seventh Street Presbyterian Church, which has been worshipping in a hired hall for six months, and now proposes to build a church, shall build it. It appears to have been understood by many members of the Presbytery that the church should remain east of Third avenue, where there is a wide field without any other Presbyterian church. The Presbytery formally decided that the new church should

About a month age, however, the Rev. A. H. Moment, pastor of the new church, made an appeal to the Presbytery for permission to build it at Lexington avenue and Seventy-sixth street, about midway between Dr. Alexander's Madison avenue, and the Rev. Mr. Crafts's, which is at Eighty-fourth street and Lexington avenue. Both Mr. Crafts and Dr. Alexander were absent from the meeting at which this ap-

But as soon as the later desiston became that the First Union Presbyterian Church iffer, the First Union Presbyterian Church iffer, the Was up that me. The pastor, the second of the Presbytery of the Presbytery of the Presbytery rester to the Presbytery rester that the president of the Presbytery yester day in the lecture room of the Fourteenth Street Church, and it took the Presbytery two hours and a half to decide the question.

Mr. Crafts pointed out on a map how the new church proposed to encroach upon the territory of existing churchss. He said the new church from back of Third avenue would be only seven minutes walk from his own or Dr. Alexander's church, that to withraw the new church from back of Third avenue would be a withdrawal from the poor in favor of the rich. He said that the sawunption in the former discussion that he favored the Seventy-sixth street location was "wholly without warrant,"

The lev. Mr. Balley tried to have the request of the First Union Church desied without further debate. But after a while the Presbytery, on motion of the Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby, decided to reconsider its last decision, and then proceeded to consider answ the question whether the new church, with the idea that it should be built east of Third avenue.

Dr. Crosby said that the Church Extension Committee had unanimously devoted money to the new church, with the idea that it should be built east of Third avenue.

Dr. Kobinson declared that he understood Mr. Moment to say he would not for a moment have accepted the call to the church but for the understanding that east of Third avenue was not to bot he ormanon location.

to Vote with their Friends and Neighbors. In a letter dated June 7 and addressed to Chairman John W. A. Shaw of the New York State Colored Democratic Association, Uen. Benjamin F. Butthe right, and guided by an innate kindness of heart in acting upon that perception, refused everywhere and under all circumstances to do anything illegal, insurrectionary, or even riotous to aid the Union armies, while they were eager, both North and South, as soon as they could be permitted, to become duly enrolled Union soldiers to fight out the contest which they saw was to result in the illerty of their race.

When the incessities of the Southern army required every abla-bodied white man to leave his home he left his wife and children and all his possessions in the care of his negro siaves; and if there was a sporadic instance where that care was not most faithfully and tenderly exerted and never tothe injury of the master, who was away fighting against the liberties of the slaves. I have not heard of it.

The same good qualities engendered the gratitude which, in carrying on the administration of the Southern which, in carrying on the administration of the Southern which, in carrying on the administration of the Southern which has been found and of the Golored men, after the war was the heart of the question was open, or could be reopened, whether freedom and citizenship should remain the right of the colored man, that people ought to vote with the party which took the affirmative on that question. But that question has been foreclosed for more than twenty years; for it was, in fact, settled when the first colored soldier was enrolled and accepted by the Government of the United States to fight for his freedom; and all correlative questions have passed away forever from national politics. SYRACUSE, June 9 .- Dr. Alexander Kyle was arrested here last week, accused of steal-ing horses and of robbing Jarvis Leck of Clyde of a gold watch and $100 while riding in a of a gold watch and $100 while riding in a wagon with him. On Saturday Kile induced two detectives to accompany him to a field near Hannibal. Onwago county, on the assertion that a pot of gold was buried thers. The secret, he said, was told him by a crooked friend of his when he was dying. He also declared that he recently visited the spot and removed some of the gold. Shovels and pickaxes were taken along and when the party arrived in the field Kyle pointed to an oak tree as the place where the treasure was buried. The detectives then compelled him to dig, and as often as he failtered they made him continue by threats. The heat was terrific, and Kyle was kept at his task until he fainted from exhaustion, after which he was put in a wagon and brought back to his cell, the party arriving here at 3 A. M. yesterday. He still insists that the pot of gold is there.

The Metropolitan team won a victory yesterday by which they tied the leading club's score in the pennant race, the Louisville and Netropolitan teams each beting now credited with twenty victories and charged with eight defeats. It was their second game charged with eight defrats. It was their second game together. The success of the home team was the more creditable from the fact that at the close of the sixth innings the Localevilles were in the van by 8 to. Then the Netropolitans began to play an up-fill game with talling effect, and the end of the mith innings saw the score a tie at 8 to 5. In the tenth innings both teams tried to increase their score, but the play was too good on both sides. In the eleventh, however, the Netropolitans went to the front by two runs, and then again disposing of their stoversaries for a blank, won the game and a regular Chicago Convention hurrah. It was a placky raily against the strongest inten in the American areas outside of New York. The score was:

The New York Cub played its first game of the serial Philadelphia yesterday, and added another victory to the long list of games won. The New Yorkers outplaye the Philadelphians both at the bat and in the field, and it was owing doubly to the poor fielding of the home leann that they lost the game. Their errors were versorly. or's Proposal to Possion All Soldier of the Civil War Befored. WASHINGTON, June 9.-- In the Senate today Mr. Hoar's amendment to the Mexican Soldiers' Pension bill, providing pensions for all soldiers who fought in the late civil war, was laid on the table by a vote of 25 to 15. Sev eral other amendments were tabled, and the bill then went over until to-morrow.

Richelseu Robinson introduced in the House a joint resolution giving the thanks of Congress to Rap, the newsboy, Michael Quigley, and certain firemen, longshoremen, and others in New York for their heroic conduct in saving lives, and deciaring that any member who refuses to give unanimous consent to the immediate passage of the resolution was a diagrace to himself and to his countrymen.

The resolution was referred, amid laughter, to the Committee on Public Health.

Mr. Adams of New York introduced a bill authorizing the Staten Island and New Jersey Bridge and Railway Company to construct bridges across Raritan Bay, Arthur Kull, and Kill Von Kull.

The House went into Committee on the Whole on the River and Harbor Appropriation bill. Mr. Willis said its provisions were:

For 125 rivers, $7.854,000; 104 harbors, $1.812,100; two channels and inlets, $800,000; five less harbors, $1.000,000 one canal, $500,000; for special serveys, $27.854,000; Total, $12,610,100.

Mr. Jones of Wisconsin opposed the bill bea joint resolution giving the thanks of Con-and contings icles, $125,000. Total, $12,619,100.

Mr. Jones of Wisconsin opposed the bill because the appropriations were too large, and Mr. Belford of Colorado because they were too smail. Several gentlemen favored the bill, and particularly the section providing for the building of the Henneoin Canal.

In the evening the House again took up the River and Harbor bill in Committee of the Whole. Amendments aggregating in appropriations the sum of $640,000 were offered and voted down. After completing the consideration of six of the forty-seven pages of the bill, the House adjourned.
